Article 1 - Powers and Duties of the Faculty Senate

Section 1. Powers and Duties

The Faculty Senate (hereafter the Senate) of The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga (hereafter UTC) shall have those powers and duties which have been, and which may be, delegated to it by the Board of Trustees of the University of Tennessee and by the faculty of UTC.

The Senate is authorized, subject to the approval of the chief academic officer, the UT president and the UT Board of Trustees, to:

- Populate the various committees of the full faculty, to charge those committees with specific responsibilities and to receive and ratify recommendations from those committees.
- Formulate policies and regulations regarding the general educational objectives of the university, including those policies and regulations related to the overall general requirements for admission, graduation and honors for the degree programs and certificates.
- Oversee the specific admission and graduation requirements for the programs of the various academic units.
- Advise and recommend to the chief academic officer or, if appropriate, through appropriate offices up to the System President, policies and procedures in other matters which concern the general welfare of UTC, such as but not exclusively limited to, criteria for faculty appointment, dismissal, promotions, tenure and retirement; criteria for the selection of the chief academic officer and other campus administrative officers; criteria for the selection of the President of the University System, and other System executive officers; priorities for the university budget; priorities for the university development plan; and changes in physical The Senate may also consider, advise, and recommend proposed policies regarding student life, rights, and responsibilities.

The Senate has no management or administrative functions, either in itself or through the instrumentality of its committees, administrative matters being expressly reserved to the President of the UT system, and delegated by the Board of Trustees and through the System President to the chancellor and provost.

Section 2. Reports and Recommendations

All deliberations by the Senate shall be reported to the faculty through distribution of the minutes and the necessary supporting documents on the Faculty Senate website. The minutes of the Senate (including much of the debate and a record of all votes) will be made available to each voting member of the faculty within fourteen (14) days after the Senate meeting. The published date of approved recommendations will be the date the vote was closed, pending approval of the minutes. Once minutes are approved, the dated recommendation is forwarded to the appropriate office. Upon the written request of fifteen (15) voting faculty members to the Secretary of the faculty, an item will be placed on the agenda of the next general faculty meeting.

Section 3. The Full Faculty

Scheduling

The full faculty (full-time tenured, tenure track and non-tenure track full-time faculty) will assemble once per semester. The fall meeting shall be conducted by the end of September; the spring meeting shall be conducted by the end of February. A second date each semester, e.g., "Reading Day," should be reserved for additional assemblies of the full faculty. The faculty may meet at other times on call by the Chancellor, by the Faculty Senate through the Faculty Secretary, or by petition of fifteen (15) members of the faculty through the Faculty Secretary.

Procedures

Faculty meetings are conducted according to Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised (latest edition) except for the amendment to the article concerning voting below and where otherwise noted in this document. A secret ballot will be used whenever requested by more than one person.

The agenda for the Full Faculty meeting shall be prepared by the Executive Committee and should be arranged according to Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised (latest edition). The Secretary shall send copies of the agenda, including all proposals to be discussed, to all Faculty members and administrative officials so these materials are received at least 72 hours prior to the meeting at which they are to be discussed. In addition, the Secretary shall make available copies of the agenda to every voting faculty member prior to the meeting.

Quorum

A quorum of the assembled full faculty will consist of one third of the total number of full faculty (a deviation from Robert's Rules of Order). In the event that a quorum is called for during assemblies of full faculty and a quorum is not present, debate on resolutions facing the assembled full faculty may proceed; voting may not proceed. The Faculty Secretary should continue to keep minutes of the assembly. Voting privileges in faculty meetings are held by individuals, who have a full-time appointment with faculty rank, as defined in Chapter 3, save for those administrators who hold faculty rank who may participate but not vote.

Voting

Voting shall normally be by voice or show of hands, at the discretion of the president. All elections shall be conducted by secret ballot. Any motion will be by secret ballot if so requested by more than one member (a deviation from Robert's Rules of Order).

Electronic Voting

Electronic voting, conducted by the Faculty Secretary or by the Faculty Senate President, and in consultation with the Senate Executive Committee and the Parliamentarian, may be administered in lieu of voting in physical assemblies (i.e., face-to-face assemblies) of the full faculty. The guidelines for electronic voting are as follows:

1. The Faculty Secretary or the Faculty Senate President will post by e-mail to the full faculty the motion(s) in question and, when appropriate, supporting documents (e.g., minutes from preceding assemblies of the full faculty in which the issues/motion(s) were debated).
2. After the motion is posted, the following three business days will be reserved for debate and discussion. No voting occurs during this time. No amendments to the motion(s) are allowed. In the event of network outage during the debate period, the debate must be extended by the number of hours the network was inoperable.
3. At the end of the debate period, an electronic ballot containing the motion(s) in question may be presented to the full faculty via the Learning Management Systems (LMS) (or a comparable, web-based system of confidential balloting). Ballots shall include options for affirmative votes, negative votes, as well as abstentions.

4. Voting will proceed for a minimum of five business days, in accordance with an announced start and finish time.
5. Once the voting starts, it should proceed with only periodic reminders about the deadline to vote.
6. In the event of network outage during the voting period (e.g., LMS becomes unavailable), voting should be extended by the number of hours the network was inoperable. (Extension should require written certification of the outage by the Chief Information Officer or designated deputy.) With notice that the network (and therefore voting availability) has been restored, voting is to commence on the next business day.
7. The outcome of a vote, i.e., the success or failure of a motion, is determined by simple majority of those voting, provided that at least one-third of those eligible to vote do so.
8. In the event of a tie vote, the Faculty Senate President, who otherwise would not vote, is authorized to vote and break the tie.

Order of Business

At meetings of the full faculty, the order of business shall be as follows:

- The meeting shall be called to order by the president.
- Previously distributed minutes of the last meeting shall be approved or amended.
- Unfinished business.
- Administrative reports.
- Committee reports.
- New business.
- Faculty concerns.
- Announcements
- Adjournment

Article 2 - Faculty Senate Organization

Section 1. Members: Number, Classification, and Terms of Office

The membership is organized into two categories: administrative ex officio members and elected faculty members.

Administrative Ex officio Members

Ex officio members are the Chancellor, Provost, Vice-Provost for Academic Affairs, Vice Chancellor for Finance and Operations, Vice Chancellor for Enrollment Management and Student Success, Dean of the Library, Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs, and Vice Chancellor and Director of Athletics. Ex officio members are non-voting members of the Senate.

Elected Members

Types, Criteria, Election, Term of Office and Duties

There are two types of senators representing full-time tenure-track faculty: at-large and divisional. The election of each is described below. There is also an adjunct faculty representative and two representatives of the full-time non-tenure-track faculty. All of these members have full voting privileges and serve a two-year term (except the adjunct representative, who serves a one-year term).

Divisional members shall be elected from those members of the faculty who meet the following criteria at the time of election: hold a full-time tenured or tenure-track appointment and either engage at least half time in teaching and/or academic research or serve as head of an academic department or hold rank as a professional member of the library staff, with the exception of the Dean of the Library, who serves as ex officio. Any faculty member who is related to more than one of the voting divisions described below will be considered as a member of the voting division in which rank is held unless duties in another voting division exceed a half-time appointment.

Membership and Elections of At-Large and Non-Tenure-Track Faculty

Each year four at-large members shall be elected, one each from the following faculty ranks: Non-Tenure Track, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor. Accordingly, in any given year, eight full-time faculty members, two from each rank, serve as at-large senators.

On or before March 1 of each year, the Secretary of the Senate shall issue to each member of the faculty a description of membership criteria and a list of faculty members eligible for nomination. Each full-time faculty member holding the rank of lecturer, clinical, visiting, research, professor of practice, assistant, associate or full professor may nominate candidates from each of the following categories: (a) assistant professors; (b) associate professors; (c) full professors; (d) non-tenure- track (lecturers, clinical, visiting, research, and practice faculty). Nominations must be returned to the Senate Secretary for the nominations to be valid. The Executive Committee of the Senate will count the nominations. The four persons in each category receiving the highest number of nominations will be the nominees, with the following exceptions: If three or fewer persons are nominated, each with two or more nominations, the names received shall be those on the ballot, and as many names as necessary shall be included on the ballot in order not to omit the name of a person who has received as many nominations as another whose name is included. No person receiving fewer than two nominations shall be included on the ballot. The final ballot will be determined by the end of spring break. Before the list of nominees is forwarded by the Senate Secretary to the Executive Committee, confirmation of the individuals' willingness to serve shall have been secured by the nominator and the Senate Secretary.

The Senate Secretary shall initiate the voting process by distributing or posting the list of confirmed nominees to the full faculty on the first Monday following spring break. Faculty must submit their vote within one calendar week. The votes will be tallied by the Senate Secretary and the President. The candidate receiving the majority of all votes cast wins the election. Absent a majority, the two candidates in each category receiving the most votes will be reconsidered in a runoff election (to be held within the next calendar week) The Secretary must announce the results of the election within one week of the end of the election process.

Elections of Divisional Members

Each of the four voting divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences and the remaining four voting divisions, as described below, shall conduct its own election. In December, the President-elect will send an email to all the current divisional senators to remind them about divisional elections. Each group of divisional senators should meet by the end of January to determine the election process—who will call for nominations, who will be responsible for holding the elections, who will alert the Secretary of the results—and report to the President-elect on the process for their division. There shall be two constraints placed upon these otherwise autonomous elections: within each voting division, the members elected must be from at least two different faculty-rank categories, and wherever three members represent a given voting division, it is desirable that they come from three different categories, and these elections must be held after the completion of the University-at-large election.

Apportionment of Divisional Members

Divisional members shall be elected by the following voting divisions:

- a. Fine arts (art, music, theatre and speech);
- b. Humanities (communication, English, modern and classical languages, history, humanities, philosophy and religion);
- c. Behavioral science, (criminal justice, military science, political science, psychology, sociology, anthropology, geography);
- d. Mathematics and sciences, (biology and environmental sciences, chemistry, mathematics, physics, geology and astronomy);
- e. College of Engineering and Computer Science;
- f. College of Business;
- g. College of Health, Education, and Professional Studies; and
- h. The Library

The number of Senate members from each of the above divisions will be based on the number of assistant, associate and full professors in each division. If the size of the division is 1-15, 16-30, 31-45, 46-60, etc., the number of representatives will be 1, 2, 3, 4, etc., respectively. Only those members of a division eligible to be elected as described above will be counted for the purpose of determining the apportionment.

At the time of the spring election, each division will elect representatives based on the apportionment for the academic year ending. At the beginning of the following academic year, the Executive Committee of the Senate will determine any changes in apportionment of the Senate based on the above criteria. Divisions entitled to more representatives will be notified and they will conduct the necessary elections at the earliest feasible time. Divisions entitled to fewer representatives will be notified not to elect a representative the next time a vacancy occurs or a term expires.

Elections of the Adjunct Member

By Aug. 1, the President-elect should contact the dean of each college and request nominees for adjunct Senate member. At least five business days will be allowed for nominations. The President-elect will then announce the results of the nomination process and proceed to administer an electronic election in accord with the procedures set forth above. The winner of the election will be announced to both the adjunct and full faculty and installed on the Senate no later than Sept. 15. Unlike the terms of other senators, the term is one year.

Term of Office and Vacancies

The term of office for elected members, except the adjunct faculty member, shall be two years and will begin on July 1 following the election, except as noted in Vacancies below. A member can be elected to serve only two consecutive full terms from any category. A member may run for election again after sitting out a two-year term. Senate members have a responsibility to attend all scheduled meetings of the Senate. Advance notification should be given to the Secretary of the Senate if a member cannot attend. Absences will be noted in the Senate minutes. After two absences to regularly scheduled Senate meetings in one semester, the President of the Senate, upon consultation with the Executive Committee, may declare the seat vacant and notify the elected members from that voting division, or the Faculty Senate Secretary, in the case of an at-large member, to elect a replacement. In case of unavoidable class conflicts with the regularly scheduled Senate meetings, the President shall ask the elected members of the Senate from that voting division, or the Faculty Senate Secretary, in the case of an at-large member, for the election of a temporary replacement.

Vacancies may occur on the Senate through death, resignation, election to the presidency of the Senate or change in appointment resulting in ineligibility as described in the introduction to this section. Representatives may cease to be a member of the voting division electing them or may be absent on leave for at least one semester or may be disqualified for other causes.

In case of vacancies, the faculty of that voting division which is losing its representative shall elect a successor to fill the unexpired term. The person elected shall assume office immediately. In the event that an at-large member of the Senate is unable to serve, that vacancy would be filled as follows:

- One-year or less: The faculty will elect at the earliest feasible time an interim representative from the same rank as the vacating member when elected to serve until July 1 of that year.
- More than one year: The faculty will elect at the earliest feasible time a representative from the same rank as the vacating member when elected to serve out the remainder of the two-year term.

A Faculty Senator shall:

- Represent and communicate with their constituency.
- Represent the broader interests of the faculty.
- Attend and participate in Senate meetings on a regular basis (see attendance information above).

- Be willing to serve on at least one University committee (Senate or other campus committees).
- Serve on other committees and task forces as needed.

Section 2. Meetings

Scheduling

Regular meetings of the Senate shall normally be held at 3:10 p.m. on the third Thursday of each month during the academic year. In exceptional circumstances, the President may reschedule or cancel a regular meeting or call a special meeting. A special meeting also may be called by the request of five members of the Senate. The request should be sent to the President by email.

The organizational meeting of the Senate shall be convened the first week of classes. All newly elected members will attend and vote with the continuing Senate membership. The Vice President of the Senate shall be confirmed and serve as chair of the Handbook Committee. The incoming President-elect will serve as chair of the Committee on Committees. Per the Committee on Committees, other Senate committee membership shall be confirmed at that time, along with their official charges.

Meetings of the Senate shall be conducted according to Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised (latest edition) unless otherwise provided for in these bylaws.

The agenda shall be prepared by the Executive Committee for each meeting of the Senate and should be arranged according to Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised (latest edition). The Secretary shall send copies of the agenda, including all proposals to be discussed, to all Senate members and appropriate administrative officials so these materials are received at least 72 hours prior to the meeting at which they are to be discussed. In addition, the Secretary shall make available copies of the agenda to every voting faculty member prior to the Senate meeting.

The Senate shall act on all action items on the agenda, by either approval, rejection, postponement, referral or remission, to committee.

The minutes (including summaries of the debates and a record of all votes of the Senate) shall be distributed by the Secretary no later than 72 hours before the next Senate meeting.

A presentation for action by any committee of the Senate or any standing committee of the faculty shall be the equivalent of a motion, and does not require a second from the floor for consideration. A committee chair may bring formal motions to the Senate on the behalf of his or her committee, even if the chair is not an elected member of the Senate.

Section 3. Quorum

A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The affirmative vote of the majority of those members voting shall be necessary for the passage of any resolution or motion unless otherwise stated in these Bylaws.

Section 4. Voting

Voting may be by voice or show of hands, though suitable handheld electronic voting devices (iClickers and the like) or voting via a digital voting system (utilizing the LMS or other digital means) may be employed at the discretion of the President. An individual count is required for all curriculum proposals (digital voting results will be reported by specific number of votes to support, deny, or abstain). All elections shall be conducted by secret ballot. Any motion will be by secret ballot if so requested by more than one senator.

Section 5. Committee Reports

Committee chairpersons shall submit reports containing items requiring Senate deliberation (other than receiving of reports) to the Senate Secretary at least five business days in advance of the Senate meeting during which the report is to be considered. The Secretary must have reports to the Senate at least 72 hours in advance of meetings. If the report is not delivered within this schedule, consideration of the issue will require approval by a show of hands of two-thirds of the members present and voting.

Section 6. Order of Business

At the meetings of the Senate, the order of business shall be as follows:

9. The meeting shall be called to order by the President
10. Previously distributed minutes of the last meeting shall be approved or amended

In cases where confirmed members cannot serve, the Committee on Committees shall reserve the right to make substitutions to committees of the faculty throughout the academic year with the confirmation of the Executive Committee of the Senate. Upon consultation with the administration, course releases or their equivalent may be granted for chairs of demanding standing committees and significant ad hoc committees.

- Each committee will have at least one administrative official designated as an ex officio member.
- Committee members may be removed during the year if they do not attend committee. Attendance will be considered as a factor in making the next year's appointments to committees.
